Forecasts Tax Raising Move To Be Blocked

Tax Expert In Senate Says White House Tax Plan Will Not Succeed

CITES REASONS FOR OPPOSING BOOST

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Sen. Millikin (R) Colo., the GOP's No. 1 tax expert in the Senate, predicted today that grass roots opposition will block any White House attempt to boost taxes in 1950.

Millikin said that the only prospect for revision of present taxes he could see was "a fighting chance" for removal of some of the so-called "luxury taxes" and reduction of others.

Income, corporation and other taxes, he predicted, will remain the same.

There have been reports that President Truman will ask a hike in general taxes in an attempt to balance the budget.

Sees Resistance

But Millikin based his prediction of successful congressional resistance to such a move on two factors:

1. "The sharp interest among the American people in balancing the budget and preventing any increase in the tax burden. The people are worried about the 50-cent dollar and they are wondering if it isn't going to become a no-cent dollar."

2. The growing economy sentiment among democratic members of Congress, as evidenced by recent statements by Sen. Byrd (D) Va., and Sen. Douglas (D) Ill.

Removal or reduction of "luxury" excise taxes would affect the present levies on sales of jewelry, furs, luggage, cameras, admission and the like.

The Colorado senator, who is the ranking Republican on the Senate finance committee, said that in the long run there would be no less in government income because of excise tax cuts. He explained:

"There will be a temporary lag, but I think the loss in revenue will be counterbalanced by the increased income which will result from improved business. These taxes are now a tremendous handicap to business—I hear that from all sides. Therefore, it stands to reason that their removal would help business and the national income."

Millikin commented that there has been a sharp change in the public attitude on tax and budget matters. He said that until recently "anyone who talked about cutting taxes or balancing the budget" was considered to be "talking in abstractions."

But now, he continued, "there is an enormous amount of interest, particularly among members of the fixed-income group who cannot keep up with the rising cost of living."

The net result, he said, would be "more steam" behind the congressional economy bloc when Congress reconvenes Jan. 3.

One more day and old 1949 will pass into history. Indications are for rather a quiet general program of greeting for the new year 1950, although a large number of "Watch Night" programs are being scheduled for churches of the city and community on Saturday evening.

Some of the skating ponds around the county, which had been at a rather low stage for some months, have benefitted by the recent rains, and are now in shape to provide for some good skating, if weather conditions develop freezing calibre.

New Yorkers Use More Water

Big Spurt In Consumption Result Of Rain, Water Commissioner Reports

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS)—"Give 'em an inch and they'll take a yard" is an old one, but New York water officials implied that it has held true in the city's water conservation drive this week.

In mid-week it was announced that heavy rains had "eased" New York's water shortage, but that the situation remained critical with only about 54 days' normal supply in the city's reservoirs.

Last night, Water Commissioner Stephen J. Carney announced that as an apparent result of the slight lift given the city's water system by the rain, there was a sudden increase in consumption of 50 million gallons of water Wednesday, over the day before.

Carney in making this public emphasized that New Yorkers must continue to go as easy on using water as they can.

"The water situation is still extremely critical," Carney said, "and we are not very far from an emergency."

Urges President Call Conference On Foreign Policy

The proposal was advanced by Rep. Eamon New Jersey, top-ranking minority member and former chairman of the House Foreign Affairs committee, who has consistently supported the administration's foreign program.

U. S. Plans Action Against Russian Satellite States

Seek To Force Accounting For U. S. Citizens Within Their Borders

By GEORGE E. DURNO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The United States prepared counter-action today against Russian satellite states that have failed to account for U. S. citizens within their borders.

Officials refused to say exactly what action might be taken against Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia other than the already enforced ban on U. S. travel in Hungary, which might be extended to the other two nations. Speculation also considered the closing of the countries' consulates in the U. S.

Still Missing

Following are the persons still missing behind the iron curtain on whom the U. S. would like to have information:

India Recognizes China Government

First Major Non-Communist Nation To Give Recognition To Red China

NEW DELHI, Dec. 30.—(INS)—India recognized the Communist "People's Republic" as the legal government of China today, the first major non-Communist nation to do so.

Britain is expected to follow the lead of Premier Nehru's government by the end of next week, with other commonwealth countries acting after a conference next month in Colombo, Ceylon.

The only nation outside the Soviet bloc to precede India in extending recognition to the three-month-old regime headed by Moscow-trained Mao Tze-tung was Burma.

Burma has a shaky government under Premier Thakin Nu, and hundreds of miles of common border with China.

The Indian action has been anticipated for several weeks. Nehru has said consistently that he will not choose sides between east and west in the cold war.

Vice Adm. Bogan Is Transferred

Figures In Shake-Up Result Of Recent Unification Navy Revolt

OTHER CHANGES IN NAVAL RANKS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(INS)—The navy slapped Vice Adm. Gerald F. Bogan today by transferring him from a command appropriate to his grade to one ordinarily held by an officer of lower rank.

Bogan was a leading figure in the recent navy revolt at unification policies. Another navy leader in the scrap, Capt. Arleigh A. Burke, however, was recommended for promotion.

Bogan, who touched off a congressional investigation in October with a blistering letter charging that navy morale was being destroyed, is to be transferred from the command of the Pacific's first task fleet and placed in a job now held by a rear admiral.

Capt. John G. Crommelin, navy firebrand who released Bogan's letter to the press, was not included in the list for promotions to rear admiral announced simultaneously with the transfer.

But "31-Knot" Burke, the wartime destroyer commander from Boulder, Colo., who was also in the forefront of the anti-unification fight as head of the navy propaganda unit "operation 23", was recommended for promotion to rear admiral.

Kunkel is understood to have the backing of GOP leaders allied with former U. S. Sen. Joseph R. Grundy, of Bristol.

U. S. May Act To Prevent Island Falling To Reds

National Security Council Has Meeting To Consider U. S. Course

REGARD FORMOSA AS STRATEGIC BASE

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The United States may give all-out aid to China's Nationalist government to keep the strategic island of Formosa from falling into the hands of the Chinese Communists.

This was indicated today after a meeting of the National Security Council, which advises President Truman on defense policies.

The problem of Formosa, of major concern to the United States since the Chinese Reds have taken over the mainland, reportedly was the major subject of discussion at the council session attended by the president.

Wide Disagreement

Informed sources say there has been wide disagreement among Mr. Truman's top advisers over what to do about Formosa.

One authority states that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's military headquarters regards Formosa as the strategic key to any future war in the Pacific. The viewpoint rates Formosa as a dangerous flanking threat to American-occupied Japan and the independent government of the Philippines.

It argues the United States can never permit Red China to occupy Formosa even if American intervention to defend the island provokes a third world war.

This group suggested the United States restore Formosa to Japan in the peace treaty yet to be drafted. Such a move would make it Gen. MacArthur's duty to occupy Formosa with U. S. troops or at least to supervise Nationalist China's control of the island.

Formosa, pre-war and wartime Japanese territory, was given to Nationalist China after V-J Day.

Acheson Opposed Move
Secretary of State Acheson, however, is understood to have opposed such a move. This brought the issue squarely before the security council.

A compromise proposal, undoubtedly discussed before the security council, is to make Formosa a test case under Article Four of President Truman's pledged aid to underdeveloped nations.

This proposal would enable the United States to help Formosa (Continued on Page Two)

Pilot Is Blamed For Fatal Crash Costing 45 Lives

NEW DELHI, Dec. 30.—(INS)—An Indian government committee blamed the pilot of a KLM Constellation today for the crash near Bombay July 12, 1949, which killed 45 persons aboard, including 13 American newsmen.

Among those killed when the Dutch ship plummeted into a hill during a blinding rainstorm was Pulitzer prize winner H. R. Knickerbocker, former International News Service Foreign Correspondent.

The committee appointed by the Civil Aviation department said in a summary of its report that an error of judgement by the pilot was a "direct cause" of the crash.

economically while actually preserving its security against Red China.

There are indications that the United States regards Formosa as a strategic base in any future Pacific war. One is the navy announcement that the U. S. fleet in Formosan waters is being reinforced by the Aircraft Carrier Boxer and its escort of two destroyers.

The other is the report that the joint chiefs of staff proposed that a new military mission be sent to Formosa to inspect its defenses. This would indicate a desire by the joint chiefs to help Nationalist China defend the island against the Chinese Reds.

Decision Is Secret

However, the security council's decision is cloaked in secrecy.

The 27,000-ton Boxer carrier one attack (bomber) and four fighter squadrons. This would constitute a total of about 80 planes with some supporting craft.

Sen. Smith (R-N.J.) called for joint occupation of the island by the U. S. and Nationalist China as a "symbol" of the Point Four program.

Sen. Connally (D-Texas), at the same time declared that resumption of Japanese sovereignty over Formosa would be preferable to letting the island fall into the hands of the Chinese Communists.

Deficit Indicated

In the budget the President is expected to estimate expenditures at 42.5 or 43 billion dollars in the 1951 fiscal year. A multi-billion dollar deficit is indicated for the year, since revenues are now running at the rate of 38 billion dollars annually.

Mr. Truman has not intimated what he will recommend on taxes. He has said he is considering repeal of the wartime excise taxes. Such a proposal certainly would be coupled with requests for tax increases to make up for the lost revenue.

The President is certain to repeat his old recommendations for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, more liberal treatment of displaced persons, national health insurance, an expanded social security program, civil rights legislation and other measures.

Burke's name was on the list from the first or whether it was added after a congressional battle threatened over reports that the wartime hero had been left off.

Bogan is slated to replace Rear Adm. John H. Cassidy, fleet air commander at Jacksonville, Fla. Unlike the other transfers, Bogan's assignment was left somewhat indefinite. The navy said he "will be ordered to shore duty... probably to Jacksonville."

Taken By Surprise

The developments were disclosed last yesterday in lengthy news announcements which also revealed that Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, commander of the Atlantic fleet, "is expected to be retired as of Feb. 1, 1950."

Blandy, twice a leading candidate for chief of naval operations, appeared to be taken by surprise by the official announcement. After a long pause, however, he said he "expects to retire because of partial disability."

Vice Adm. William M. Fechteler, son of the late Rear Adm. Augustus F. Fechteler, and at present deputy chief of personnel, will get Blandy's command, one of the few navy posts frequently in the public eye.

The United States was particularly indignant over the Vogeler case. The I. T. & T. executive was in Budapest seeking to protect the interests of his company. Only yesterday the Hungarian Communist regime expropriated the plant, charging that it was being used for spying purposes.

Chlorophyll, the substance which gives plants their green color, has been incorporated in a new green tooth paste which, according to recent scientific reports, may actually prevent tooth decay.

Doctor Is Charged With Mercy Death

GOFFSTOWN, N. H., Dec. 30.—(INS)—One brother sharply denounced and another vigorously defended today, the physician accused of the "mercy slaying" of their 59-year-old cancer-ridden sister.

Dr. Herman N. Sander, 40, was said by Hillsboro county solicitor William H. Craig to have admitted the slaying of Mrs. Abbie C. Borroto, Dec. 4, because "he thought he was performing an act of mercy and had done it without malice."

Louis Constantino of Bangor, Me., described his sister as beset by "agonizing pain" and rallied behind Dr. Sander, a prominent Manchester physician, charged with injecting air in the patient's bloodstream to hasten her death.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Another attempt by Soviet Russia to outmaneuver western diplomacy was seen in Paris reports that the Kremlin may call for a new meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers early in the new year.

The reports spring from the fact that Soviet intelligence has learned of western plans for another Big Three conference within a short time after the year 1949 has threatened an up and down line in the web of history.

Information in Paris is that Russia plans to suggest that the United States convoke the Big Four conference.

Such a move might lead to some embarrassment.

It would presuppose Russia's willingness to discuss and compromise on all pending issues and would put the United States in a position of blocking a four-power cooperation if Washington refused to take the initiative.

Reason For Desire

There is reason for Russia's desire to "jump the gun" on western diplomacy at the present time.

To begin with, the Big Three pursued a very shrewd course before and during its last meeting in Paris. Every major spokesman insisted right down the line that it was merely a "routine consultation" and there were cautious diplomatic denials of anything that touched upon Germany's military position.

Yet as the weeks passed it became evident that many highly important decisions were reached.

The bulk of them were made known when the Bonn Protocol was announced on Thanksgiving Day. German Chancellor Dr. Konrad Adenauer was able to tell the federal parliament that Western Germany had reached a stage of virtual equality with the western part of Europe and with the United States.

Integration of economies was one thing. Appointment of German trade and diplomatic missions to foreign countries was another and re-creation of the German merchant fleet on a limited basis was a third.

In addition, Germany was given representation on the international Ruhr Authority. And in exchange, the Western Germans had only to promise adequate measures to guard against any rebirth of nationalism or militarism.

Followed Paris Meeting

The Paris meeting has been followed by a series of important loans and grants by the United States and Great Britain to Yugoslavia. This constant cultivation of Marshal Tito by western diplomacy seems certain to continue despite Tito's assertion through Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj that he never will participate in any anti-Soviet bloc.

Then Great Britain approached the Scandinavian countries for an economic arrangement which could reduce any economic dependence upon eastern Europe that might exist.

And on top of this the Pope opened the holy door of St. Peter's church, proclaimed the jubilee year of 1950 in existence and started in motion a year-long campaign of unbroken church action against the forces of materialism.

The full spiritual impact of the holy year upon the Soviet satellite nations of Europe has yet to be felt.

But there seems to be no question that the Kremlin is fearful of its consequences.

Seek To Offset Effect

In retrospect, it seems almost as though the Soviet propagandists went as far as they did in publicizing Marshal Stalin's 70th birthday on December 21 in an effort to offset some of the spiritual force engendered throughout the world by the massive and impressive year preparations in Rome.

There were stories about trainloads of gifts and the tremendous tributes paid to the Soviet leader. The coincidence that his anniversary fell just a few days before inauguration of the jubilee seems to have impelled the Kremlin and its supporters to especially lavish efforts.

Obviously, Stalin cannot combat the Roman Catholic hierarchy with any church measures of his own. But diplomatic victories still are of value in these still indecisive battles. There are numerous open battles in which one might be scored. Stalin may be hoping for one at a Big Four round table that would lessen the undoubted western successes in the year 1949.

They Say

VATICAN CITY — Pope Pius XII . . . "Is not the confidence that so many chiefs of state place in the Holy See, through so many envoys, a sign of a profound period of the general development of humanity and Christianity?"

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Commerce Sawyer . . . "It is clear from the great number of complaints made to me on this subject (of the federal excise taxes) that these taxes have a depressing effect upon retail sales."

GEORGETOWN, S. C. — Elder Statesman Bernard Baruch . . . "We mustn't let ourselves become victims of the delusion that all we have to do is vote the older people money . . . anything that saps the value of savings and inflation is the worst single threat — is the enemy of the aged, and of those who expect to grow old."

WASHINGTON — Atomic Commission Chairman David Lilienthal . . . "My impression is that there have been several secret advances in atomic energy during 1949 . . ."

Folks Of Fame

Charles Darwin was born Feb. 12, 1809, at Shrewsbury, England, and became a world-famous naturalist and author. He studied at Edinburgh for a medical career. In 1831 he went on the Beagle as naturalist for a surveying expedition in the Atlantic and Pacific. His work in the geology of these places became the subject of volumes published after his return. In 1837 he began to collect facts bearing upon the formation of breeds of domestic animals and plants, determining that "selection was the keystone of man's success." On Nov. 24, 1859, his great work "On the Origin of Species by Means of 'Natural Selection, or the Preservation of Favoured Races in the Struggle for Life," was published. Many other works succeeded, causing great furor among his own, which religious and scientific circles. He died April 19, 1882.

Hugo Stinnes was a German industrialist, born in Mulheim, Feb. 12, 1870, and educated as a mining engineer. He established a business of his own, which expanded steadily. It came to include, besides dealing in coal, ownership of mines, barges, river steamers and seagoing vessels. He organized an international coal business, and during World War I, he commanded a large share of industrial work required by German authorities. He became a member of the Reichstag in 1920 and began to buy up newspapers, whose opinions he dominated. He died in Berlin, April 10, 1924.

BIBLE THOUGHT

Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven. But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth: that thine alms may be in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret himself shall reward thee openly. Matthew 6: 1, 3, 4.

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Airline Merger Proposal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The stock-taking indulged in at this time of year is apt to be cynical and even edged with disillusion. But there is at least one citizen in these United States who has every reason to be heartily grateful for Christmas.

That is Juan T. Trippe, president of Pan-American Airways. Three days before Christmas the Civil Aeronautics Board released the report of Examiner Thomas L. Wrenn recommending the merger of Pan-Am and American Overseas Airlines. This is a big and important step toward the goal that is Trippe's lifelong ambition—a single American airline operating in the foreign field and that airline naturally will be Pan-Am.

As so often with our giving and receiving, this latest example seems to follow the scriptural knowledge that "to him who hath shall be given." Through his extraordinary organizing capacity, his zeal and his ambition, Trippe has built an empire of phenomenal power. It has been called a state within a state and the road ahead seems to have been cleared for an even greater measure of sovereignty.

Can Be Reversed

True, the CAB can reverse the findings of its examiner. If the board also rules for the merger, which was engineered by Trippe, then under the law President Truman must make the final ruling and he can reverse the board. But in view of the examiner's report and in the light of persistent rumors that the way has long been prepared by pressure, persuasion and pelf, this seems unlikely.

At the end of lengthy public hearings into the merger, public counsel James L. Highsaw, Jr., and William F. Kennedy filed a brief saying it would almost certainly result in a monopoly. And that monopoly airline, according to the brief, could have greater powers than the United States government.

Should the merger go through, one competing line would be left on the North Atlantic run. This would be Trans-World Airline. But TWA has protested that it probably could not withstand the kind of competition Pan-Am united with American could bring to bear.

Charges Are Made

Furthermore, TWA has just filed a brief charging that Pan-Am is putting over a "hoax" in order to cut in on TWA's most lucrative field of operation. That rests on TWA's exclusive right to enter Rome. Now with the holy year coming up and thousands of American pilgrims flying to Rome, the CAB has granted Pan-Am the right to operate "charter flights" which, according to TWA's brief, will be the equivalent of regular operation.

But the average American this may seem the kind of struggle for private power that has characterized the rise of the giant corporations and, therefore, it is no business of his. But in some respects it is literally his business. Subsidies provided by the taxpayer have contributed a great deal to the development of the private airlines.

But in another, and perhaps more important, respect it is the business of the average citizen. This is because the development of civil aviation is directly related to military security.

Air Merchant Marine Bill

A group of former air transport officers of the navy and the air force, with some support on Capitol Hill, are promoting what has come to be known as the air merchant marine bill. Under it the United States would finance the manufacture of transport planes, particularly cargo planes—which would be leased to the airlines for operation. In this way the air-carrying capacity of the nation would be greatly augmented so that an emergency like the Berlin blockade or war itself would not find the armed forces desperately short of cargo planes.

But the Air Transport Association and the big lines oppose this proposal. A confidential document being circulated through the industry quotes Robert Ramspeck, executive vice president of the Air Transport Association, as warning that the air merchant marine bill would bring the airlines "closer and closer to government ownership as time passed."

If the danger of government ownership lurks in this bill, there is a far greater danger of nationalization in the trend toward monopoly. It would be so easy for government to take over a single

Scene At Blair House

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON D. C., Dec. 30.—Among the Christmas presents received last week at Blair House, temporary presidential mansion, was one of strange device and known as a Retrovision machine. Since the President and his family had not returned from spending Christmas out in Independence, Mo., the Blair House butler and maid unwrapped the Retrovision machine and set it up in the front parlor.

"What sort of thingamajig is it?" asked the maid.

"Don't you know what Retrovision is?" sniffed the butler with an air of superior wisdom. "Why, it's a kind of television which allows you to re-picture the past as you might have lived it. Shall we turn it on?"

"With the Boss away?" asked the maid timidly. "Oh, well, why not?"

So They Turned It On

So they turned on the Retrovision, and there was the President on the screen in the pre-inauguration days of January, 1949. He was making a speech which ran as follows:

"Some of the boys in the back room," the President was saying from the Retrovision screen, "have urged me to cash in quick in my unexpected victory last November. They say Congress, in jubilation over the Democratic sweep, is ready to raise my salary to $100,000 and to give me an expense account bonus of $50,000. But I've told the boys there's nothing doing. Somehow it doesn't seem right to profiteer that way after running as a poor man's candidate."

"Hold everything," cried the maid. "The Boss never made any such speech. The 81st Congress did give him a raise and a bonus."

"That's right," said the butler. "As I told you, Retrovision re-pictures the past as it might have been, not as it really was. Let's see some more."

The Retrovision next showed a scene from the Senate Labor Committee hearings where the chairman, Senator Thomas of Utah, was reading a message from the White House.

"Gentlemen," said Thomas from the screen, "I am advised that the President will not insist upon an all-or-nothing repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and a restoration of the Wagner Act. The President, after calm consideration, has decided that the country needs a Labor Bill which is fair to both sides. So he urges us to take the best elements of both Acts and draft an equitable substitute."

"Golly," ejaculated the maid, "if the Boss had done that, he and the 81st Congress would have gone down in history for it!"

But Big Issue Would Be Missing

"Yeh," said the butler, "but the Democrats wouldn't have a big issue to bring out the Labor vote in 1950. These all-or-nothing propositions may not be good statecraft, but they're good politics."

"Let's see some more," said the maid eagerly.

The Retrovision was showing Senator Lucas, Democratic floor-leader, addressing the Senate in March, 1949.

"If we go on with this Civil Rights filibuster," Lucas was saying from the screen, "we'll waste valuable time, accomplish nothing and remain in session all summer. So I have permission from the White House to make a compromise in which the better elements of the Republican party will join. I shall offer a bill which calls for a Constitutional Amendment to outlaw the poll tax and other Civil Rights abuses. I'll admit this isn't the ideal method, but it's better than nothing—it's a good beginning."

The butler and the maid kept on watching while the Retrovision machine reeled off other might-have-been political events of 1949. There were shots which showed the reduction of Federal spending, the drafting of a sensible Farm Bill, a cut-back Pension Bill, a broad plan to construct schools and hospitals where needed but without Federalized control or creeping socialization, and finally a bill which forbade any Congress to spend more money than it could raise by taxes in any fiscal year.

"Whoops!" cried the maid. "Nineteen forty-nine was a wonderful year, wasn't it? Hey—what're you going to do with that ax?"

"I'm going to bust this Retrovision machine to smithereens," said the butler. "You know blamed well the Boss wouldn't stand for it around Blair House."

"Guess not," said the maid ruefully. "Well, you smash it up and I'll sweep the pieces out into the alley. Nobody will ever know it's been here."

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Now I have seen everything—I hope.

Whoever I write something in favor of smoking or dancing or going to the movies, I expect and receive many letters telling me that my heresy is leading my readers straight into Hell.

They try to prove their contentions by Chapter and Verse and want to make me believe that certain portions of the Bible were written specifically about tobacco, dancing and the movies, thereby twisting the Good Book into a corkscrew of their own imagination.

But today I received something that really is the limit. I had mentioned playing Canasta with some friends.

So, in the mail today, arrives a scorching letter about the sin of playing cards.

To support the writer's condemnation of card-playing in general and me in particular, a little four-page folder is enclosed.

It is entitled "FACTS about Cards and Card-playing." "Mind you, it says 'FACTS'. A fact is something that is proved to be true.

So this folder states as a FACT that "cards were invented to amuse an idiotic king." As a matter of "fact" the origin of cards is unknown. It is believed that the Arabs or Saracens learned the use of cards from the Gypsies and spread them in Europe.

The origin of the game of invention for the amusement of a king is in a Chinese dictionary published in 1673, which said that cards were invented "for the amusement of King Seun-ho and his concubines." But there certainly is no "fact" about that.

Then the little folder comes down to what it calls real "facts". The "ten-spot," it says, is in opposition to the ten commandments.

"Clubs" represents a weapon of murder.

"Spades," a tool to dig graves, suggests death.

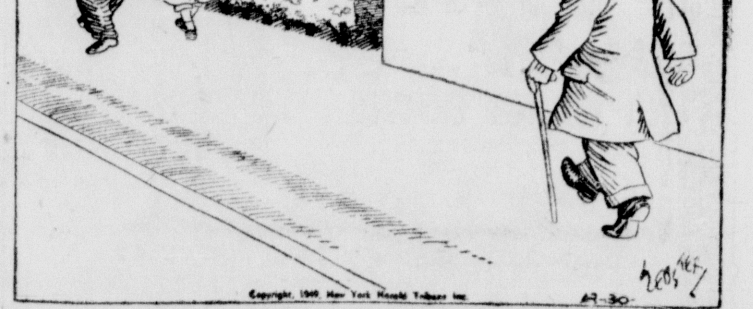

"Hearts" holds up the broken heart of Christ in derision instead of devotion.

"Jack" represents a libertine

State Police Say:

The drunken driver is a potential murderer on the highways. The public is highly incensed when they hear of a drunk running amok and shooting people with a gun, but they seldom stop to realize that a drunken driver can and does cause greater damage to life and property. Instead of setting into motion a bullet which may take a life, he sets in motion a motor vehicle weighing a ton or more which can snuff out a life just as quickly as a bullet. Do your part as a citizen and call the police when you see a drunken driver or a drunken pedestrian.

Russian Vessels To Be 'Escorted' Through Panama

Fishing Craft Are Taking Long
Route From Baltic To Vladivostok In East

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(INS)—The army announced Thursday that three Russian ships in the Caribbean area will be thoroughly inspected and conducted by U. S. pilots through Panama canal waters.

The Caribbean area where the vessels appeared is to be the scene of intensive military maneuvers within the next six weeks.

The three Soviet vessels, described as "fishing craft," are the Peramuth, the Trepang and the Chiaka. They appeared in the Bahamas Christmas day and announced they would pass through the Panama canal enroute from the Baltic to Vladivostok.

The ships are 325-tonners designed for fishing and coastal patrol. The army said this brings to 15 the total of Russian ships that have sailed the route from the Baltic to Vladivostok via the canal in the past two years.

Inspect All Ships

The army said that all ships passing through the canal are inspected for dangerous cargo and for conformance to canal regulations. U. S. pilots are aboard as long as the ships are in canal waters or American coastal waters. The army said it had no information concerning reports that the Russian vessels are equipped with "powerful radios" or that they lack usual equipment for fishing.

Neither could the army explain why the ships are sailing the canal route instead of taking a shorter route via the Mediterranean.

Shipping sources said that a large number of Russian ships of the same type are passing through the Mediterranean and the Suez canal, also enroute to far eastern waters.

SUGAR SWEET.

SO IS RUBBER

AKRON, O.—(INS)—Sugar always has gone well with two of its neighbor products from the torrid zone—tea and coffee—and now it's being used to "sweeten" rubber, too, but only in the figurative sense.

B. F. Goodrich scientists report that sugar speeds up production of the new longer-wearing "cold rubber" though by the time the man-made rubber gets into tire treads only a trace of the sugar remains.

Washability of rayon fabric depends not only on fiber, but on how the fabric is made, dyed and finished. Check labels for washing instructions when you buy a rayon garment, or wash a small piece of the material to see if it is washable.

SKIN CARE
Our girls seem to be very anxious to have their skin look just right. They put cold cream on it. They put rouge on it. They are very careful to use the right kind of soap.

We like to see them look pretty. We want them to be healthy and happy.

Perhaps it is more important to look after what goes on inside the skin.

Proper food and the right amount of rest are essential. Work is perhaps as important as rest. Sometimes girls have too much fat under their skin. A little intelligent attention to the eating problem will usually take care of the fat.

Grandma has some troubles which might be due to what she did when she was young.

She was a knockout then but she is knocked out a little now.

Sightless Folks Guest Of Lions

Thursday Night's Dinner Party At Trinity Church Is Outstanding Event

LARGE NUMBER IN ATTENDANCE

Thursday night's annual party for the sightless folks of the community, given by the Lions Club in Trinity Episcopal church, proved another outstanding one, attracting the largest attendance of these handicapped folks in years.

There were 38 present for the occasion, and they were entertained with a splendid program during the evening.

The club was joined by the Ladies of the Lions in the arrangements for the evening, with Rev. Fr. Ralph E. Hovencamp as general chairman.

Dingley Toastmaster

Paul G. Dingley, past president of the club, served as master of ceremonies, and kept the program moving along smoothly, interspersed with a number of witty stories which kept the guests and club members in a happy mood throughout the evening.

The evening's festivities were started with a fine turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, served by the ladies of Trinity church, with Rev. Stephen Kolcum, pastor of St. Nicholas Orthodox Greek Catholic church, giving the invocation.

Sam Rashid, president of the club, welcomed the guests, and introduced Mr. Dingley, the toastmaster, who in turn called upon Rev. Fr. Hovencamp for remarks, during which he introduced his aides who had arranged the party.

Entertainment Program

Plans To Close 300 Eating Places In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Pittsburgh Health Director Dr. I. Hope Alexander was determined today to close some 300 Pittsburgh eating places on Feb. 1, regardless of the outcome of a court suit on the legality of Pittsburgh's new A-B-C grading ordinance for restaurants.

Judge A. Marshall Thompson is expected to give an opinion today on the Western Pennsylvania Restaurant Association's request for an injunction to stop the city from enforcing the ordinance.

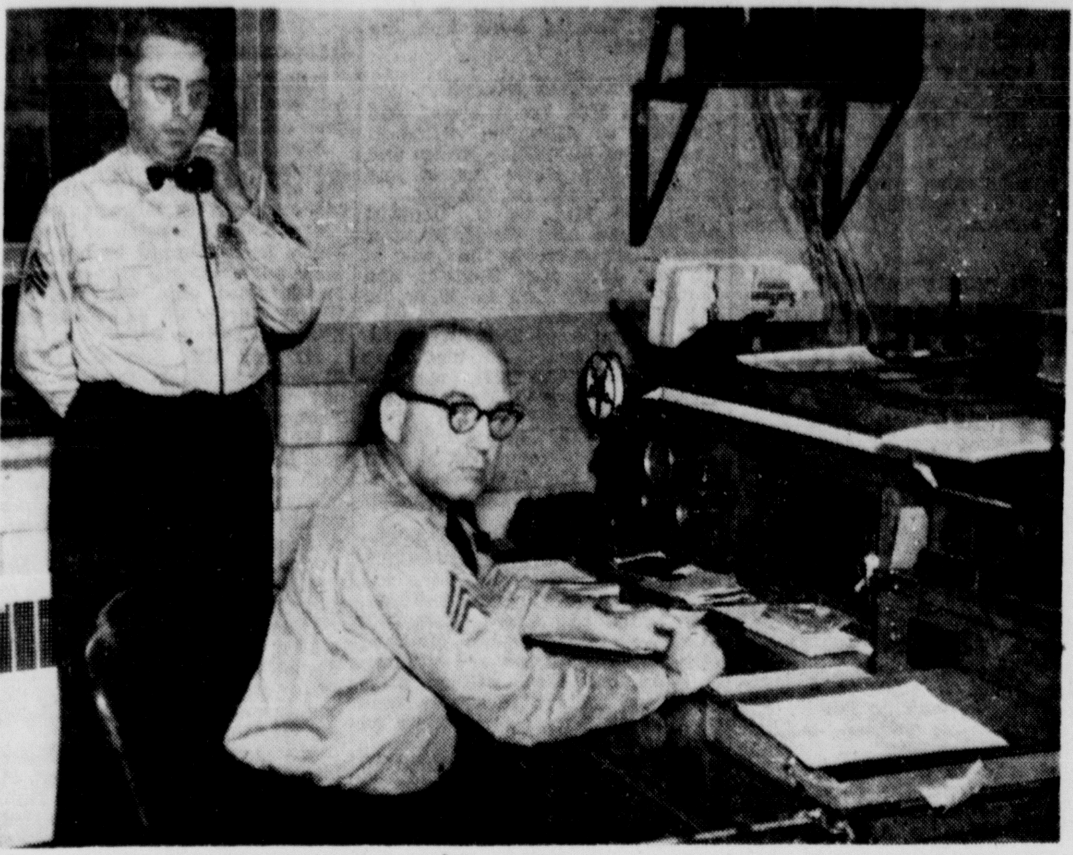

Restaurants with perfect sanitary facilities and house-keeping methods are rated "A" under the new ordinance. Those which lack certain requirements are classed "B" and "C" rating is given those places considered unsanitary. Those last must meet requirement within 30 days or close their doors.

Dr. Alexander said the 300 restaurants rated "C" can be closed under provisions of the state code, even if the ordinance is declared unenforceable by the courts.

BANANA SLICES

Beaver Falls Boy Home After Long Jaunt Over World

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 30.—Seventeen-year-old Robert Hamilton relaxed at the Beaver Falls home of his parents today, his three-year odyssey apparently ended.

The travel-weary youth arrived home with his father, Aron Y. Hamilton, who met him at LaGuardia airport in New York after a four-day flight delay from Puerto Rico.

Said Robert, whose travels the past three years have taken him around much of the western world: "I'm ready to settle down now and lead a normal life. I'm no kid anymore."

Robert left home three years ago, when he was 14, bound for Arabia. But he landed in Alaska. From Alaska he traveled to Miami, San Juan and then Puerto Rico, where he took a job running the soda fountain in the New Hilton hotel.

But dreams of a white Christmas at home became too much for the youthful wanderer and last Saturday he wired "pop" for passage home. Father and son arrived home last night, "to stay," said Robert.

Noisiest Cities In Nation Are Listed

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—(INS)—A firm which makes noise its business said today that the United States is noisier than ever.

The Van Der Schalie Laboratory, which does sound research, said its testing units, after a survey of major American cities, found that "the noise level" of the entire country has gone up.

It blamed automobiles, mostly, for the increase in noise, and listed what it called the ten noisiest American cities as follows:

1. Pittsburgh, 2. Chicago, 3. New York, 4. Boston, 5. Philadelphia, 6. San Francisco, 7. Cincinnati, 8. Houston, 9. Miami, 10. St. Louis.

The quietest major city, the company said, is Los Angeles, and the reason given was that Los Angeles cuts down auto noise with wide express streets that do away with a lot of horn honking.

MANY REQUESTS ARE MADE

Friends, relatives and churches were remembered by the late Mrs. Sarah Dana Falls in her will which has been filed. After providing for funeral expenses and markers for the graves of her and her late husband, Edward Davis, Mrs. Davis makes the following bequests:

For the use of Anna Foster, $500 is set aside as a remembrance of Mrs. Davis. To Anni and Helmi Pakkanen, $150 each for faithful service.

In the will Mrs. Davis sets out that as far as possible, her own estate and the estate left her by her late cousin, Attorney Richard F. Dana, should be kept separate and the bequests mentioned above taken from the Dana estate.

The residue goes share and share alike to Helen Woodworth, Sue Lowry, Marion McKenzie, Sarah Lundgren, Carl Frombagen, Clara Long Perry, Ellen Long Elder, George S. Long and David H. Long, most of them nieces and nephews.

To Mrs. Myrtle Gardner, the house and lot at 230 North Mill street. A mortgage of William and Shirley Emley is cancelled.

Trinity Episcopal church gets the Falls homestead next to the church on North Mill street as a memorial to Mrs. Davis' father and mother, Thomas H. Falls and Rebecca Sankey Falls.

As a similar memorial to her parents and to herself and husband, First Presbyterian church is given the house and lot at 234 West Moody avenue.

The residue after the bequests from the two estates, goes to Marion Falls McKenzie, Sarah Falls Lundgren and Sarah Wootton of Elvira, O.

GIVEN TO STATE

WILLOUGHBY, O.—(INS)—A Cleveland industrialist has saved one of the last stands of natural timber in northern Ohio from the woodsman's axe.

Gildersleeve Ridge, a 362-acre wooded tract in nearby Kirtland, is to be turned over to the state as an outright gift from Fred Chapin, president of the National Acme company of Cleveland.

The woods will be operated by the Ohio Natural Resources Commission as a demonstration forest area and will be named "Chapin Experimental Forest."

INVITATIONS TO INFORMAL WEDDING

"My daughter will be married at 5 p. m., wearing a dressmaker suit and having only one attendant. She will send reception invitations to both families only. Must the invitations be engraved? How should we stand in the receiving line? What should be served?"

Answer: Your daughter may write short, informal notes inviting her guests, inasmuch as her wedding will be informal.

You may have a dinner if you choose since your reception will be at dinner time. Or if you prefer, you may serve a buffet supper of cold cuts, potato salad, rolls, coffee, ice cream and wedding cake. You really should have something substantial at that hour.

There need be no receiving line, since the wedding will be informal and only the families will be present.

Question: A few days ago, my husband was invited to a party, at which there will be both men and women. I received no invitation. Is this not unusual? I have never met the hostess. My husband knows both her and her husband through business. Just what is my position and should my husband attend?

Answer: It is very unusual. It occurred either through an oversight or through gross ignorance. An invitation to anything other than a stag party should never be sent to a married man unless his wife is included. The only other exception is, of course, a business conference where only those (both men and women) directly concerned need be invited. Your husband should show his disapproval by declining.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Clay is Fun.

Clay is fun for the young! To grownups it often seems too messy. If, however, the clay is kept in a stone jar and covered with a moist cloth and a lid and if one provides a special place for its use, the problem of messiness won't be too serious. The "special place" may be a small table covered with oil with oil cloth and placed upon a five-foot-square piece of linoleum. Newspapers can be substituted for linoleum. The clay, itself, should be stored in hand-size pieces in the jar. Such pieces make it easier for the youngster to use.

Clay is fun for even young children who cannot make anything from it yet. They will pound, roll and poke it with delight. And before long they will be making "cakes," "pies" and other simple things. Youngsters of four years and older will make dishes, balls, beads, animals, statues, trains and all sorts of other things.

After a child has been using clay for some time and has become more expert, he may want to decorate his creations with poster paint. Painting should not be done until the clay is thoroughly dry. Covering the surface with a coat of white shellac or liquid wax will add to the effect by giving a clear and glossy finish.

Catholic Churches
New Year's MassesIndult Issued Allows Privilege For Special Midnight Mass On New Year's Eve

New Year's Day, Sunday, January 1, is a holy day of obligation, and Catholics locally and throughout the world will observe this day by attending Holy Mass. This year, the Most Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, D.D., Bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, issued an indult which permits the offering of a special midnight mass on New Year's Eve. Practically all of the local Catholic churches will celebrate mass at midnight on New Year's Eve.

The indult reads as follows: By virtue of an indult issued by the Sacred Congregation of the Sacraments, the privilege of a special midnight mass on New Year's Eve, 1950, is extended to all persons of the Catholic faith in the diocese of Pittsburgh, where the faithful are accustomed to attend Holy Mass in large numbers. The use of this privilege is to be determined by the pastor or priest in charge of the church.

There will be no communion given during the midnight mass.

The Sacred Congregation points out the purposes of the indult: "To propitiate the benignity of the most merciful and omnipotent God of the entire Catholic flock. To entreat the most desire and abundant fruits of true penance, reform of life, increase of all Christian virtues and the sanctification for which the solemn universal jubilee has been proclaimed."

Signed,
HUGH C. BOYLE, D.D.,
Bishop of the Pittsburgh
Diocese.

Following is the schedule of masses:

St. Joseph's—Midnight mass, 8, 10 and 11:30 a.m.
St. Mary's—11:30 p.m., two-hour devotion including Holy Mass on New Year's Eve, Sunday masses, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10:30 and 12 o'clock noon.

St. Lucy's—Midnight mass, 7:30, 9, and 11 o'clock.
St. Vitus—Midnight mass, 7:30, 9 o'clock (children's mass), 10:30 and 12 o'clock noon. Croton mass at 9:30 o'clock.
St. Margaret's—9:30 a.m., New Year's Day.
St. Michael's—Midnight mass and 11:30 a.m.

Pittsburgh Chef
Fails In Attempt To Become Citizen

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30.—(INS)—A Pittsburgh chef Thursday lost his fight in the third U. S. circuit court to become an American citizen.

The appellate body upheld denial of citizenship to Louis Bartenbach, 35, a chef with the H. J. Heinz Co., by the Pittsburgh district court.

District court jurists based their ruling on the fact that Bartenbach had invoked his status as a "neutral alien" from Switzerland to obtain exemption from the World War II draft.

The circuit court's decision came in a 38-word unanimous decree rejecting an appeal by the chef from a ruling by U. S. District Judge Nelson McVicar in Pittsburgh last March.

The appellate tribunal took no notice of Bartenbach's explanation that he was provoked into claiming exemption by the "insulting and abusive" attitude of Harry Zieg, clerk of local board No. 2 in Pittsburgh.

Alleged Operator Of Fake Diploma Mill Prefers Jail

Daniel J. McDevitt Would Rather
Go To Jail Than Post
$1000 Bond

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30. — (INS)—Daniel J. McDevitt, alleged operator of a "fake diploma" mill, elected to go to jail Thursday rather than post $1,000 bond as charges against him continued to snowball.

Magistrate Elias Myers ordered McDevitt held under $1,000 bail pending a further hearing Saturday on the latest accusations.

Michael J. O'Donnell, the 63-year-old ex-ball player and umpire's attorney, announced that McDevitt would go to jail instead of posting the money.

The latest charges preferred against him are cheating by fraudulent pretense, forgery, uttering forged instruments, practicing medicine and surgery without a license, and violating the private trade school act.

Deputy Attorney General Elmer P. Boila announced in Harrisburg yesterday that additional counts would be filed against McDevitt.

Girl Scout Leaders To Have Noel Party

The customary Leaders' Christmas party was postponed because of the seasonal rush. A gala New Year's party is being planned instead for Thursday evening, January 5, at Westfield Presbyterian church, Enon Valley—Mt. Jackson road.

All leaders will meet at the New Castle post office at 6:30 p. m. From there the caravan will move to the church, where the evening will get off to a good start with a turkey dinner and all the trimmings. The church women have big plans to make this dinner one to be long remembered.

Mrs. Roland Stearns is chairman of the group responsible for a surprise program. Mrs. Jean Shumaker is general chairman.

The deadline on reservations was set for December 30. Since the Scout office will be closed Saturday, December 31, Mrs. Shumaker and Mrs. James Matthews will accept reservations at their homes on this date.

Yule Party Held By Marine Corps League Auxiliary

Christmas Dinner Party Enjoyed
By Auxiliary Members
And Guests

A delicious baked ham dinner was an enjoyable beginning for the Christmas party held by members of the Marine Corps League Auxiliary on Wednesday evening at Hotel New Penn.

Attorney Robert White II gave the invocation at dinner. The table featured red and white appointments. White snowmen in miniature attached to red sleighs marked the place settings. In the center of the table was a large white cotton snowman pulling a red sleigh. Other festive accents were miniature Christmas trees. A lighted Christmas tree in the room added to the seasonal appointments.

After dinner, canasta was an interesting pastime with prize awards falling to Mrs. Marie Metz, Fred Berner and Mrs. Ruth Brown. Attorney Robert White II won the door prize.

Mrs. Irene Minner was chairlady of the committee for arrangements of the pleasurable fete. Her aides were Mrs. Anne Castele, Mrs. Ann White, Mrs. Ruth Brown and Mrs. Maxine Chiurazzi. Jim Leasure shared as a special guest.

It's a Swim Suit

INTRODUCED at a Paris fashion show, this leopard fabric bathing suit and boots trimmed with fox fur may not be the cat's meow for swimming, but certainly could decorate a beach. The lovely Paris model fills it out in just the right spots, too. (International)

IN THE OPEN

Another year, newly minted and full of promise, comes rolling down the calendar for its rendezvous with destiny. Sleek and shiny, the 1950 model comes on-stage to stir the age-old instincts which plague every man who loves the lure of wayside trails. He can't wait to trade in the faithful old model for the gleaming newcomer, anticipating great adventures afield before the twelve-cylindered novice will have run its course.

The countryman sits at his writing desk and looks back over the broad vista of better than thirty years of weekend rambling across the friendly hills. Red letter days pop up in his mind's eye—days of new discoveries or of such rare charm as to have etched themselves permanently in memory. And now—again—here comes another year, offering endless fascination and countless new exploratory paths.

Wait for Joys of Springtime

Once January has made the fatal step and plunged a tentative foot into the surging tide, the countryman starts pulling and hauling for all he's worth, eager to roll back the cold months of waiting and get on to the joys of the returning Springtime. He hopes for all who are stirred by such simple things as "the rift of dawn, the reddening of the rose," good hiking in the new months that lie ahead.

The cost of wandering the devious wayside trails is trivial. Old clothes, comfortable shoes and above all a good stout walking stick; these are the prime requisites. The walking stick should preferably be one cut by the hiker himself. It should be light and strong, and about heart-high for greatest comfort in use. The welcome mat is always out in the thickets, and few indeed are the signs reading "For Members Only."

Hiker Beyond Rescue

The confirmed hiker is beyond rescue, sunk in a poppled drench of simple outdoor pleasures which he would not exchange for a king's ransom. He has schooled himself in the art of seeing things, and every trip afield reveals some new fine print he missed when he passed that way before. In the book of the outdoors the best pages are always as yet uncut. The countryman reads on and on, following the fascinating narrative through swamp and bottomland, across the hills and onto the ridges, happily aware that he cannot bankrupt his opportunities nor knowledge nor joy.

There is a wealth of simple beauty around every bend in the countryside. It blooms in field corners, in corn rows, even on garbage heaps and on barbed wire against the snow. The countryman winds up a hectic week tensed and grumpily irritated by the mad, merciless whirl of business. He heads for the timberlands post haste and soon walks relaxed through an enchanted world of haunting distances and entrancing solitude. This is his seventh inning stretch—a change of pace with tremendous lift to body and soul.

One of the prerogatives of the countryman who rambles often through the same balliwick is the engineering of his own footpaths. A footpath is often slow growth. It is a wild, shy thing that is easily scared away. It steers with uncanny instinct for the gaps and low places in the fences and wears the roots of the trees at favored corners in the woodlands. But it can become the highway to happiness for the jaded townsman who returns, like Antaeus, for strength and courage to repeated contacts with Mother Earth and her folk.

The turning year marks not only the entrance of another annual cycle but footnotes the halfway point in perhaps the most anxious century the world will know. The countryman invites all men in posts of high decision to walk together through the neighboring countryside while resolving global differences. Walking brings out true character. As the pores open all disguises fall away and real convictions are laid bare.

Come Along on Ramble

To all who would learn to know the simple joys of the wayside trails the countryman extends invitations to come along in weekend rambling. All outdoorsmen share alike a tremendous legacy of happy memories and high hopes. As Thoreau had it, "there is more day to dawn." Tomorrow and tomorrow will stretch in shimmering beauty across the neighboring hills. That way lies Shangri-la, a delightful and happy new year. "I'm going out to clean the pasture spring; I'll only stop to rake the leaves away (And wait to watch the water clear, I may) I shan't be gone long. You come too."

SASSY FRASS.

Hard-Of-Hearing To Get 'Braille'

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS)—New hope for the hard-of-hearing appeared with announcement of a "Braille system" that will enable a deaf person to follow a conversation word-for-word with his fingertips.

Delegates to the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science learned that ordinary conversation may be "heard" by the hands through the breakdown of sound into five frequencies—one for each finger.

Dr. Norbert Wiener, mathematics professor of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, described how he and several colleagues are working toward a completely portable "receiver" which may be worn in a flexible glove.

A tiny microphone has been designed to pick up the sounds of conversation, split them electrically among five finger keys, and transmit the vibrations to the fingers in a set of sensations which can be memorized much as a blind man memorizes Braille.

PETERSHAM, Mass.—When the Petersham Unitarian church clock stopped striking the hour but continued to tell time, Janitor Kenneth Clark was puzzled. Investigation revealed that a mouse had run up the clock and got caught in the striking mechanism.

RULE CHANGE HURTS

The new basketball rule, calling for shooting of fouls as well as getting the ball out of bounds in the closing minutes of the game, has been receiving criticism from fans, officials and players from one end of the country to the other.

General consensus of opinion seems to indicate that this will be the first and last year that the rule will be in effect. The decision board of the WPIAL has already gone on record as favoring the repeal of the rule.

The purpose of the rule, as stated by the group that drew it up, is to stop the unnecessary fouling in the closing minutes of the game.

The rule not only has stopped the unnecessary fouling but it has almost stopped the game at the same time. Now the team that is in the lead when the rule goes into effect can just sit back and take it easy, since the opponent doesn't dare get over aggressive in its attempt to get control of the ball.

Result—a very dull and slow last few minutes of play.

The rule is also being interpreted differently in the various fields of basketball. Under the National Collegiate code, fouls committed by the defensive team in the final two minutes of play can be penalized by two free throws and after the second the offensive team still keeps possession of the ball.

Under the WPIAL rule it is three minutes instead of the two as in college ball.

In the Western Conference all defensive fouls in the last two minutes of play call for two free shots, but the ball remains in play after the second.

In professional basketball there is a jump ball after foul losses in the last five minutes of play. The WPIAL decision committee also went on record as opposed to the rule that stops the clock every time that the whistle blows in the last three minutes of play.

Taking issue with the rules committee, this department thinks that this rule is one of the better ones recently enacted. It permits three solid minutes of basketball, giving the losing team a better chance of catching up.

Before this rule was put into effect, one of the best ways for the team that was ahead to take up time was to fiddle around after the whistle was blown, taking more time with the ball out of bounds and in the jumps.

Now there is no possible way to eat up the time except through passing or dribbling the ball, giving the opposition a good chance to get possession of it.

WARRIORS ACQUIRE LEWIS
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30.—(INS)—The Philadelphia Warriors announced today acquisition of Fred Lewis, towering forward LIU and eastern Kentucky sharpshooter.

Lewis, who last year averaged 11 points a game with the Baltimore Bullets, will make his Quaker City debut tomorrow night.

New Castle Battles South Union Tonight

Tonight at the Washington High floor, New Castle High basketball team will end its pre-league card with South Union High the opposition. The preliminary game will start at 7 o'clock.

New Castle will be after its fifth win of the pre-league season against three upsets.

'Cane Smarting
Still smarting under the 46-41 defeat handed them by Ford City, the 'Cane passers will endeavor to take out their revenge on the South Unionites. Coach George Thomas will probably start the same five that faced Ford City—John Samsone and Latso at the forwards, Don Reed at center and McDevitt and McGary at the guards. Dick Lewis looks better every game and may get a starting nod at forward, it was indicated.

Little is known here of the South Union team, outside of the fact that they won from Brownsville 38 to 34, and lost to Monessen 45 to 34 and to California 35 to 31. They may have a few surprises though, basketball teams are unpredictable.

Farrell Here, January 3
New Castle will be pointing for the big Farrell High team that opens the Section Three slate here next Tuesday, January 3. The team this year and are seriously thinking of the sectional title.

New Castle has been installed as Section Three 'dark horses' this year, mainly due to the sensational young Don Reed, the scoring leader in sectional play last year. Reed is vastly improved player this year, mated in scoring from his shoulder the whole load by any means, it takes four other men to make a championship team.

East And West Game Saturday

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—(INS)—The West Shrine team will wind up practice today preparatory to meeting the East squad in the annual Shrine charity football classic in Kezar stadium at San Francisco tomorrow.

The West players received a lift for the light drill when they welcomed back Jim Castagnoli, Stanford center.

Castagnoli was given permission by Dr. William Grannis to play against the East wearing a protective case over his torn shoulder muscles.

The All-American studied East team picks its co-captain today, probably before their final light drill under Coaches Andy Kerr, Bernie Bierman and Tuss McLaughry.

DUKES WHIP PEPPERDINE
PITTSBURGH, DEC. 30.—(INS)—Duquesne continued as one of the nation's few unbeaten teams last night by beating Pepperdine, 60-49, in the second half of a Gardens doubleheader in Pittsburgh.

Nearly 6,000 watched lean Ed Dahler score 21 points to lead the Dukes to their sixth straight victory against intersectional opponents.

Cloudy, Cool For Rose Bowl Game Monday

Expect Near 100,000 Fans Will Jam Pasadena Stadium For Annual Classic

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 30.—(INS)—Cloudy, cool weather was forecast today for Monday's Rose Bowl football clash between Ohio State and California, but otherwise the pre-game situation remained unchanged.

Earlier the weatherman said storm conditions in the north threatened to bring rain for the contest, expected to be witnessed by 100,000 fans.

The Buckeyes and Bears slammed through final body contact drills at their training camps yesterday. Afterward, Coach Wes Fesler pronounced Ohio State physically and mentally fit—"ready for the Rose Bowl whistle right now."

"I can't guarantee it, but the team has a chance, a very good chance, of entering the game in as good shape as it has been for any game this season."

Bears Stress Defense
Coach Lynn Woldorf ordered a "hands-off" policy on Quarterback Bob Celeri as the Bears snorted through their last rugged scrimmage.

It is no secret that Woldorf is emphasizing defense, inasmuch as his Bears have not had too much experience against single wing teams. Fesler employs the unbalanced single wing much of the time, using the T formation sparingly.

The condition of Jack Swanner, the crack California running halfback who suffered a knee injury Wednesday, remained about the same and it was doubtful if he would be able to play.

California remained a six-point favorite.

Roller-Hockey Teams Make Hit

The J. R. Rick roller-hockey team made a decided hit last night at Oil City, as they staged an exhibition game with the Yellow Jackets, a group of Rick reserves. The Jackets won 6 to 5 in a hotly contested game, Coach Lee Stoops announced.

Oil City will probably form a hockey team in the near future and will meet the Ricks here. Oil City has never had a roller-hockey team.

Joe Maxim Sails For London, Meets Mills January 24

American Fighter Hopes To Lift Light Heavyweight Crown From Britisher

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Joe Maxim, armed with the synthetic American light heavyweight boxing championship, sails for England today to attempt to lift the world title from Britain's Freddie Mills.

Maxim and Mills meet for the championship in London on January 24.

Both the 27-year-old Cleveland and his manager, Jack Kearns, are confident they will return with the title, which Mills won from Gus Lesnevich in July, 1948.

Maxim and Archie Moore of St. Louis already are rated ahead of Mills in the semi-official rankings published by Ring magazine.

Maxim Is Puncher
Freddie did not defended his title since he won it and has had only two overweight bouts. He defeated Johnny Ralph in Johannesburg, South Africa, in a non-title go and was knocked out by Bruce Woodcock in a fight for the British heavyweight championship.

Maxim, a lanky Italian-American, seems to have the style to take Mills. He's a clever boxer and a straight-away puncher who should feast on a roundhouse clouter like Freddie. And Joe is a "hungry" fighter, a fellow with plenty of ambition.

Kearns professed his biggest worry to be that the British foul rule will cost Maxim his chance. The British award the bout to a fouled fighter, while in America only the round is lost.

St. Francis Edges Westminster 70-68

Westminster college's Titans blew a seven point first half lead lost out to undefeated St. Francis college, 68-70 last night at Duquesne Gardens, Pittsburgh.

The Frankies pulled up even with the Titans in the fading minutes of the third period and held a four point lead as the final period got underway. It was anybody's ball game all through the final frame.

Frankies Rally
Westminster tied up the game with three minutes gone in the fourth quarter and held a two to three point lead until the final 90 seconds of play when the Frankies tied up the contest on a foul shot and went ahead on a field goal by George Banchansky, big 6'4" center from Homestead.

The inability of the Titans to keep pace in the foul shooting department spelled the difference in the outcome. Although Westminster outscored St. Francis in sink only 18 of 33 foul shots while field goals, the Titans were able to the Frankies pushed through 24 out of 27 free throws.

The loss was the second in eight starts for the Titans and the sixth straight win for the Frankies. Westminster previously had lost only to Seton Hall.

Meet Pitt Jan. 5
Frankie guard John Bodner of Homestead was high scorer for the evening with 17 points. For the Titans three men shared scoring honors with 13 points each. They were Jackie Jones, Connellsville; Bruce Wagner, Cochranton; and Allen McCullough, Bradford.

The Titans return to the campus for a week's rest before resuming cage play on Jan. 5 with the University of Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh. They play Geneva on Jan. 11, New Wilmington and Journey to Cleveland to tangle with Baldwin Wallace on Jan. 13.

That one player is Sam Snead. Neither Ben Hogan, the 1948 winner, nor Lloyd Mangrum, the 1949 victor, will be able to tee off in the opening money event of the new year.

Snead will be a favorite and a strong one despite a field that includes the national open champion, Dr. Cary Middlecoff; de-bonair Jimmy Demaret, Johnny Palmer, veteran Harry Cooper, husky Skip Alexander and low-scoring Freddy Haas Jr.

California Loses Star Left Halfback Swaner

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Gloom thicker than Los Angeles smog hung today over the Riverside training camp of the University of California where worried Bear gridders awaited word of their star left halfback, Jack Swaner.

The blonde standout, sidelined most of the season with a bad knee, suffered a recurrence of the injury yesterday and may be lost for the Rose Bowl football game with Ohio State.

Swaner was fielding a punt during practice yesterday afternoon when he was tackled by right half Frank Brunk. He crumpled to the ground as worried teammates crowded around.

Out of Contest
Harold (Brick) Miller and Jim Harkness, California team physicians, examined Swaner after the collision and declared him out of the contest.

Ohio State meanwhile roared down the stretch in preparation for its Jan. 2 date by tapering off from scrimmage drills.

Fesler Satisfied
Yesterday's session cost the services of reserve back Rodney Swinehart, who played behind Jerry Krall, Jimmy Clark and Vic Janowicz.

Coach Wes Fesler said he was just beginning to be satisfied with the progress of the team, but added the Buckeyes were "far from sharp as yet."

With only three more practice days left before the big game, Fesler indicated he would lay off the rough stuff and concentrate on ball handling and passing offense.

Western Kentucky Defeated By LIU

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Long Island University added the scalp of highly touted Western Kentucky to its collection last night and moved into the metropolitan limelight with its fourth triumph over tough opponents.

LIU blasted the tall fast Hillbillies, 73-66, by putting on a Mexican jumping bean exhibition and outshooting the Kentuckians under the boards. It was LIU's ninth win in ten starts.

In the preliminary tussle, New York University evened its season record at 4-4 by dumping Yale, 72-62. It was the third loss in eight games for the Elis.

Royals Tounce Fort Wayne 97-79

(By International News Service)

The Rochester Royals continued to set a fast pace in the strong central division of the National Basketball association by drubbing Fort Wayne, 97-79, last night.

Still, Rochester, with 18 wins on the season against only eight losses, only leads 1½ games over Minneapolis and two over Chicago and Fort Wayne. Four of the five teams in the division are averaging over .600 on the season.

Chicago Wins
Chicago moved into third place by edging Anderson, 81-80, and St. Louis, the last place club in the section, won its 13th game in 28 starts by mauling Baltimore, 90-63.

In the other NBA games last night Syracuse got a severe scare from Philadelphia but managed to hang on to win, 64-62, and Sheboygan squeaked out a 94-92 win over Waterloo.

Van Buren, greatest ground-gainer in pro football history, takes care of line-crunching chores the way Army's Doc Blanchard did for the cadets—only more so.

Wrigley Field, Chicago, is the only major league ball park not equipped with lights.

Dr. James A. Naismith introduced basketball in 1892. It's come a long way.

County Pupils Attending Many Different Schools

There are 28 school districts in Lawrence county—without counting the city districts of New Castle and Ellwood City. Of these 26 are separate and two are joint-districts.

In these 28 districts are a total of 47 elementary schools and nine high schools. That leaves 19 districts without high schools of their own. All have their own elementary schools.

Most of these 19 districts are too small to have their own high schools and of necessity must send their pupils to other districts that do have the facilities.

Those districts that do not have their own high schools are:

Big Beaver township, Little Beaver township, Chewton Independent, Ellport borough, Enon Valley borough, Mahoning township, Neshannock township, Perry township, Plaingrove township, Pulaski township, South New Castle borough, Taylor township, Volant borough, Washington township, Wayne township and Wilmington township.

Joint districts that do not have their own high schools are Enon Valley-Little Beaver and Shenango-Taylor.

Districts that do have their own high schools are North Beaver township, Bessemer borough, Hickory township, New Wilmington borough, Scott township, Shenango township, Slippery Rock township, Union township and Wampum borough.

Where They Go

Big Beaver township sends most of its high school pupils to the Wampum high school, with a few going to North Beaver, Ellwood City and Beaver Falls. Little Beaver township sends the majority of its pupils to North Beaver high school, while a few go to East Palestine.

Chewton splits its pupils nearly fifty-fifty between Ellwood City and Wampum. Edinburg sends its entire enrollment of high school pupils to Union township.

Ellport sends all of its pupils to Ellwood City, with Enon Valley securing schooling for its pupils in East Palestine. O. Mahoning township sends about 70 per cent of its pupils to Bessemer and the other 30 per cent to Union.

Neshannock township sends all of its high school pupils into the New Castle schools as does Taylor township, with the exception of a few that attend Shenango. Perry township pupils nearly all go to Ellwood City high school, with only a handful drifting over to Zelenople.

Plaingrove, meanwhile, sends nearly its entire high school crop to Grove City, while Pulaski township pupils go all the way to Union township high school.

South New Castle borough high school pupils find their way to Shenango township high school, while Volant and Wilmington town pupils end up in New Wilmington.

Wayne township annually supplies over a hundred pupils for Ellwood City high school and Washington township sends most of its boys and girls to Hickory and a few others to Scott high school at Harlansburg.

Neshannock U.P. Will Have Cantata

Members of the choir of Bell Memorial church, Ellwood City, will offer a sacred cantata in Neshannock United Presbyterian church Sunday evening, January 1, at 8 o'clock. The singers will be directed by Ray Marshall.

"The Guiding Star," a short religious motion picture, will also be shown.
